BURROW / 01 — THE IDENTITY

Localhost, shared.

A public HTTPS link for the app on your machine. Share previews, receive webhooks and inspect requests from your terminal.

The signature

Use the complete file, including its built-in clear space.

07L / Arc. The approved burrowing owl, outward passage and exactly preserved outlined Burrow wordmark.

- Use the horizontal lockup when the name needs to read at a glance. Use the symbol for small avatars and application icons.
- Keep the supplied proportions and internal spacing. The lettering is an outlined signature.
- Keep at least one quarter of the visible symbol height clear around new placements. Retain the larger built-in export padding.
- Use the reversed artwork on a dark field. Keep the mark clear of busy photography.

Keep explanations in Plex Sans. Use Plex Mono for actual technical content, with standard character spacing.

THE BRAND IN ONE SENTENCE

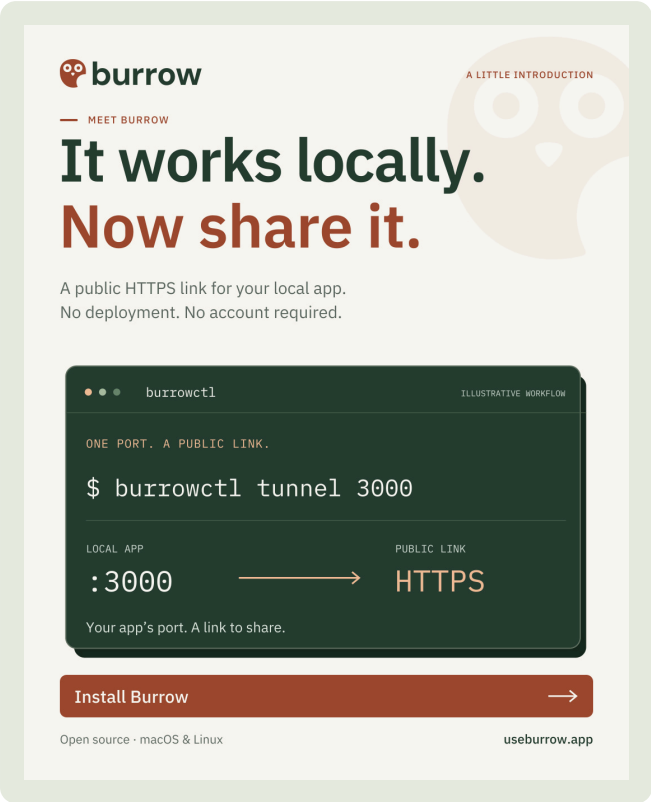

Direct and useful. Name the task, show the command, explain the result. Keep the technical detail accurate.

PRODUCT & CAMPAIGN CONTEXT

Use the approved 07L / Arc owl and outlined wordmark. Profile artwork includes optical padding; use native-size favicon exports for small icons.

BURROW / 02 — IN PRACTICE

INSTAGRAM / 1080 × 1350 / FINISHED EXAMPLE

Build the composition

1. Identify. Give the supplied signature a quiet, uncluttered position.
2. Lead. Use a short headline in IBM Plex Sans. Break at a natural phrase, with one thought per line.
3. Show. Use precise terminal compositions, restrained arrows and real ports. Mark demonstration requests and URLs as examples.
4. Invite. Use “Install Burrow” and useburrow.app. Keep supporting copy subordinate to the headline.

An outcome-led headline, one terminal workflow and a single installation action.

The social sequence

- Localhost, a little further
  Three standalone introductions.
- From localhost to feedback
  Publish parts 01 → 02 → 03.
- Close the webhook loop
  Publish parts 01 → 02 → 03.

Each sequence has Instagram, X and TikTok photo adaptations. Keep the matching caption and alt text with the chosen image.
